

Overcrowding

“Nice beach - overcrowded!”

●●●●○ Reviewed July 28, 2013

I stayed in an apartment which was 5minutes away from Waikiki Beach while staying in O'ahu. It's a nice beach but very very overcrowded. I mean there are some areas where you just couldn't move.

I'd stay a couple of days at this beach max if you wanted to get some people watching/shopping done as all the stores on the main strip are open mostly until 11pm.

Nice to see, but I would not plan your entire Hawaiian holiday here as to me it just felt a bit 'mainland USA' if that makes sense.

Visited July 2013

“A good hike but overcrowded--worth it for the view of Waikiki”

●●●●○ Reviewed 13 July 2012

This is one of the things we had to accomplish during our third trip to Oahu. My family of five, including three teenagers, is fairly athletic, so we had no problem on this strenuous hike. We hiked it on a Monday at approximately 10 AM. Even at this time, there were already lots of people on the trail. We had to wait about 15 minutes to park. Plan ahead because there is limited parking near the trail head. Some parked outside and walked through the tunnel to access the trailhead. This is a fairly strenuous hike but achievable if you take your time. The best part of the hike is the view of Waikiki from the summit. Bring your camera for some great shots. Because of this rare view of Waikiki, I rated it a four instead

